Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor-No. 39 Bible House, Feb., 1897.
ASSTRACT OF MONTHLY REPORT—Complete returns from 201 relative show that 6,9 2 families, containing 27,825 persons were relieved the previous month.

38) visitors show that 6,9 2 families, containing 27,825 persons, were relieved the previous month.

The most appoling destitution prevails in portions of the IXth, Xihh, Xillih, XVlih, XVlih, XVlih, XXlih and XXlst Wards, averaging to each of these Wards about 465 poverty-tricken families now aided by this Association.

The relief of so large a mass of indigence necessarily involves a large outlay. Notwithstanding the careful discrimination and co-nomy which this system of relief secures, the expentiture for January and appropriation for February exceed $21,09c; and a much larger disbursement would have been justified by the urgent recessities of the poor, if sufficient means had been the disposal of the Board.

With an exhausted Treasury, and famishing thousands crying for food, can the Board do less than to let the facts speak in behalf of the suffering thus providentially thrown upon our care? And can it be, that in this city, far timed for its wealth sod diberality, such facts will plead in vain? Many have siready given freely—more, stintedly; and others, nothing—supposing that funds were not needed. But facts show that the destitution in the sections named is a absolute as it was in the terrible winter of 1850; and that without prompt and continuous relief to multitudes for probably the next two months, or until Spring opens, there will be an untold amount of suffering and starvation.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC FRANK FORESTER'S SPORTING SCENES AND CHAR brance, will again interpret the best portions from Italian Operas.

THE GERMAN "LIED."

Ever since the advent in London of Jetty Treffz, Tischek, Staudig!, Reichardt and Formes, the German "Lieder," by Schuberth, Kucken, Proch and Esser have become a prominent feature in every Concert-room. Fashion, emanating from a partially German Court, introduced it at first; but the intrinsic merit of the "Lied," and its undisputed superiority over the sentimenta balled, gave it a permanent footing, which has stood the test of many years. There is little could that the "Lied," without which no programme offered to a German or English andlence is considered complete, will prove not less acceptable to the American public. From this motive an engagement has been effected with.

MADAME JOHANNSEN, who is reported in Germany one of its best exponents. She will therefore sing a every Concert one or more "Lieder," in addition to a choice selection from standard German Operas.

The eminent Violinia-who, since the departure of Jenny Lind, has not taken part in any concents except those of the Philiarmonic Society—has consented to appear again in public, and to perform at Mr. THALBERG'S Concerts.

IMPORTANT BIBLICAL WORK. ANALYTICAL CONCORDANCE

HOLY SCRIPTURES:

perform at Mr. THALBERG'S CONCERNATION.)

MRS. E. L. DAVENPORT.

It has always been the desire of the management to render Mr. THALBERG'S Concerts not merely varied and entertaining, but likewise instructive and intellectual. In Paris and the capitals of Germany the recital or, as it is called there, the "declamation" of well-selected poens has been frequently introduced into the concert room. The sensation produced with the readings of some of Lamartine's "harmonies religiouses" at Mr. THALBERG'S Concerts in Paris, by graduates from the section de declamation of the Conservatoire had formed at that time a general topic of remark. In Germany Sophie Schroeder, Madame Histzinger, Emile Decrient, Lourse and others have acquired additional fame in a similar manner. The management has therefore endeavored to add this interesting feature to its general programme, and has much pleasure in announcing the engagement of

HOLY SCRIPTURES; OR,
THE BIBLE' PRESENTED UNDER DISTINCT AND CLASSIFIED HEADS OR TOPICS.
BY JOHN EADE, D.D., LL.D.,
Author of "Biblion Cyclopedia," "Condensed Concordance," &c., &c.
One volume, octave, $35 pp., cloth. $2.
The publishers would call the special attention of clergymen and others to some of the peruliar features of this great work:
1. It is a concordance of SURIECTS, not of WORDS. In this respect it differs enthrely from the common concordance, meither is therefore a substitute for the other, and both are in dispensable as a part of biblical apparatus.
2. It embrace all the topics, secular as well as religious, naturally suspected by the entire contents of the Bible. In this respect it differs from Scripture Manuals and Topical Text-Books, which are confined to theological or doctrinal topics.
3. It contains the ENTIRE CONTENTS OF THE BIBLE UNANGEDING, differing in nothing from the ordinary Bible, except in arrangement. In this respect it differs from the class of works Just alluded to, which contain only a PART of the Bible.
4. Where the same passage of Scripture relates to more than one subject, it is REFRATED under the appropriate head. In this respect, the book differs from any other of the kind.
5. It contains a Synorsis of the contents separate from the concerdance, presenting in a readable form, and in the compass of a few pages, a birdseye view of the whole. In this also it differs from any other.
6. It contains a table of contents, embracing nearly Two The well-known tragedienne who will read in every Concert a poem by a celebrated author.

LEWETT'S SPIERS'S PRONOUNCING SCHOOL DIC-TIONARY OF THE FRENCH AND ENGLISH LANGUAGES. 716 pages 12mo. Price $1 50.

These editions have been edited from the author's latest re-vised Paris editions, with a view to afford additional aid to the American student. Several hundred English words in seneral use, not to be found in any other French and Hughish Diction-aries, have been added; and the American as well as English acceptations of words have been inserted where these differ.

JEWETT'S SPIERS'S PRONOUNCING SCHOOL DIC-

JEWETT'S SPIERS'S PRONOUNCING SCHOOL DICTIONARY is the only edition of the author's own abridgment, and the only stridgment of Dr. Spiers's work published in this country. It contains upward of twelve thoward more words than the work entitled 'Spiers's and Surenne's,' but which is really unly Surenne's, as will be seen from the following extract from a letter of Dr. Spiers's, dated Paris, Jun. 5, 1857, just received by the publishers:

"Gentlemen: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of copies of your reprints of my General French and English Dictionary, and of the School edition of this work. I would tende: my thanks for this act of couriesy on your part, and I willingly admit that your editions of both these works are bona fide what they profess to be, viz: reprints of the works the titles of which they bear. You have not, as a publisher of your city has done in one case, added to my work another man's mame, and in another case added my name to another man's work. In the book entitled 'Spiers & Surenne's French School Dictionary,' I can see nothing of mine but my name; the rest may be Mr. Surenne's, or for sugh. I know Mr. — 's own, or, to tell the whole truth, it is rather Master Boyer's work of the 17th century, once more served up in new and fashinable outer garments, but having within obsulete, abourd definitions instead of the proper equivalents, and those ridictions blunders that have purised the learners and amused the scholars of both countries these five generations part; definitions and blunders so happily blended, that they render the book about as useful in our time as would be Moore's Frophetic Almanack for the year of our Lord 1699, the one in which Master Boyer's book was first imprinted."

JEWETT'S SPIERS'S FRENCH DICTIONARIES have printed."

JEWETT'S SPIERS'S FRENCH DICTIONARIES have been pronounced the best published by all who have examined them, and the publishers have yet to find that intelligent French teacher who does not give this his warm approval and recommendation. The recommendation of our editions already received are too numerous for publication in this advertisement.

THE NIGHT SHRIEK!

A TALE OF NEW-ORLEANS, FOUNDED ON FACT.

NOTE TO TALE-About twenty-five years ago one of the wealthlest families of New-Orleans were so seriously annoyed by an appalling night shrick, reverberating through the house, that they removed, renting their splendid residence to the Sisters of Charity for a school. Still the fearful shrick followed them, until the missing will of the late head of the family was discovered, when it ceased.

By Mis J. D. Baldwin. Will also appear in this number.

Be sure and buy LESLIE'S FAPER, with the BURDELL TRAGEDY. A NEW SYSTEM OF PHRENOLOGY.

This book has five good points. It is the clearest exposition of Gall's System of Phrenology in existence; it shows that one third of Gall's organs de not exist, or are not properly located in the brain; it brings up the science to the latest dates, and makes it accord with the established facts of Physiology, it carries Phrenelogy to its legitimate conclusions, without regard to puted science. We, for our part, have obtained more lucid and exact notions from it than from any other book on the same subject, and it might properly be styled, 'Phrenology Made Plain to Every Compression.'" and take no other for it, as this work is allowed by all critics to be superior to anything else ever written by Frank Forester.

Read what the National Magazine for March says of it:

"Frank Forester's Sporting Scenes and Charactera 2 vois., 12mo. Philadelphia: T. B. Peterson.—Frank Forester is without a rival in this line. There are no volumes in the language, of the kind, equal to his 'Sporting Scenes and Charactera.' It contains 'The Warwick Woodlands,' 'My Shooting Son.' The Deer-Stalbers,' and 'The Chorndon Hounds,' the four takes whith make up these two volumes. The character of Tom Draw will live as long as that of Coop r's Leather Stocking, Mr. T. B. Peterson has resued these volumes. In character of Tom Draw will kee as long as that of Coop r's Leather Stocking, Mr. T. B. Peterson has resued these volumes in a very elegant style, on thick paper, with grapide embelishments and in tasteful bindings. There are few gentlemen who will not read the 'Sporting Scenes' with delight, and even instruction, for the author is no ignorant compiler of wood-craft incidents, but a famed Nimred, who has won trophies without number."

"These volumes are full of life, spirit and entertainment. Nothing more ray or applicably of the kind could well be imagined. The scenes and characters are fond of sport, and wish to while away a leisure moment those cold, unpleasant evenings with which we are now visited, in the imaginary chase and wish to while sway a leisure moment those cold unpleasant evenings with which we are now visited, in the imaginary chase and wish to while sway a leisure in Frank Forester's Sporting Scenes and Characters, published by Peterson, in a scattered form, long been extremely popular, and have been eagerly bought and sought by the lovers of lively reading. They are now destined to take an entirely fresh Cart, Laving been part collected and published by T.
